Mississippi Insurance Department Sets Up Storm Claims Information Webpage

Mississippi Insurance Commissioner George Dale today announced that his Office has communicated with all the major writers of homeowners insurance in Mississippi to ensure that they have adequate staff and resources to handle any damage caused by Hurricane Dennis. Dale said his Office has taken steps to ensure that the companies are prepared to start working with our residents to process their claims as soon as the storm passes.

“Mississippi residents were very fortunate to have been spared major damage from this storm. We need to remain prepared and vigilant as it appears this is going to be a very active hurricane season,” said Dale.

Several of the companies have volunteered to run advertisements informing their insurers on how to contact them. A special webpage – www.doi.state.ms.us/hurdennis.htm - has been set up on the Mississippi Insurance Department website containing claims contact information for the major carriers serving state residents.

The webpage contains the following contact information:

For your convenience here is a contact list for the major insurance carriers:
